BIG ADVENTURES

Let's face it, what's the point of getting out of town in your trailer but not being able to enjoy the view? That's why our new Sportsmaster units feature huge tinted windows throughout the entire coach – take a breather and relax on the ultra-comfy pillow back sofa while enjoying an un-obscured view of the outdoors. Our trailers are Extreme-ly different - incorporating the creature comforts of home with the ease and durability necessary for travel. We offer unique custom features such as arched hardwood cabinet doors (reminiscent of home), a roll-out pantry, a kitchen sink pull-out sprayer (making clean-up a breeze), and even a designer clock. Not only did we use modern styling on the sofa (this isn't your grandmother's trailer!), we incorporated microfiber* for a soft look and touch, with easy clean up. You'll also notice our trailers are very well lit: extra ceiling lighting, adjustable reading lights over the sofa and bed, and designer wall sconces - all in a custom oil-rubbed bronze finish. The extra details and durability of our Sportsmaster units will make you Extreme-ly comfortable as your entire family heads out to create new memories and have big family adventures!

BIG HISTORY

Extreme RVs, LLC was created from an employee purchase of KIT Manufacturing Company's RV Division on January 29, 2003. Extreme RVs retained the former company's product lines: Companion, Road Ranger, Extreme SUTs, Sportsmaster, and Monterey.

KIT Manufacturing had been started as a co-partnership in October 1945 in Long Beach, California, for the purpose of manufacturing and marketing a pre-fabricated, camper-type, teardrop trailer which could be shipped in a "kit" or package complete with component parts. The sportsman could then assemble the unit himself.

Shortly thereafter, the company began manufacturing a completely finished "teardrop" trailer with innerspring mattress, water tank, and an all-aluminum kitchen with a butane stove and ice box. A strong sales and advertising program was initiated, popularizing the new type trailers through department stores, gasoline stations, trailer dealers, and new and used car dealers. The company grew from 2 units a week to 120 units a week and continued to increase from there.

Over the years, the company developed a reputation for a quality built unit. KIT units, and now Extreme RV units, maintain one of the highest resale values on the market.

BIG FUTURE

Extreme RVs proudly carries on the KIT legacy as we continue to manufacture quality products while building a new legacy of introducing cutting-edge decors and affordable luxury features!

*The overall weight (or unloaded trailer weight) listed above is an approximate weight. As the weight of component parts and materials installed in each trailer vary, depending on the changing nature of the materials available and used during the manufacturing process, the weights listed above may be greater or lesser by a factor of up to fifteen percent. If the customer has concerns about the towing capacity of the intended tow vehicle and the actual trailer weight, including any dealer installed equipment and gross vehicle weight rating, customer is advised to have the trailer weighed to determine the actual weight of the trailer. Additionally, you are advised to consult your tow vehicle dealer to ensure that your tow vehicle has adequate towing capacity for the trailer and cargo carrying capacity weights listed above.

BIG VALUE

BIG EXTRAS

Extreme utilizes set-wood screws and not dry wall screws. We use wood screws to attach the sidewalls and cabinets together from the outside in, instead of staples like other manufacturers. Set wood screws grip stronger than other fasteners to provide a solid, cleaner looking cabinet installation and also prevents cabinets from sagging as time and travels go by.

Extreme RV's designs and constructs our own chassis with up to 12" engineered I-beam and reinforced outriggers. The superior structure and strength of the chassis provides a strong foundation, assuring a long life without sagging. Full-length outriggers give complete added structural support.

With gusseted truss rafters and O.S.B. roof decking, Extreme roofs are the strongest in the industry. Not only do we stand by our product, we stand on it!

Extreme uses 5/8" x 8' x 24' O.S.B. with a water-resistant phenolic resin. Building with this material means at most one seam per coach, which eliminates the annoying squeaky floor and provides a more solid floor. The O.S.B. floor decking is then glued and fastened to the floor joist to eliminate squeaks and provide a stronger floor.

Our sidewalls are set on top of the floor and secured with long wood screws and a structural adhesive. This construction method allows the weight of the sidewall and roof to rest atop the floor and chassis for a superior structure.

R-18 roof insulation gives you all the comforts of home. The industry standard is R-7 insulation. The upgrade to R-18 makes the RV cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

Even when the forecast calls for sunshine, it rains at Extreme! We run our units through our unique rain test system to eliminate the possibility of leaks.
